

Earn while you learn as an Early Childhood trainee

Whether you've recently left school, looking for a new career or returning to the workforce, our traineeship program will really set you up for your fun and rewarding new career.

Work and study at the same time

You'll attend class in Melbourne one day a week to complete your Certificate III and we'll find you a job at an early learning service close to home for the other days. You'll work alongside experienced educators, learn on the job, and earn while you learn.

Mentoring and support

You'll be guided by a mentor at your early learning service and supported by a Gowrie facilitator who will ensure you learn the theory, can apply it in your work, and complete your assessments. Additional study support is available and mentoring as you prepare for job interviews and plan your career after the program.

You don't need experience. We're looking for positive and reliable team players, committed to their new career. We especially encourage people with disabilities or from diverse backgrounds. Join a team of trainees and make life-long friends. There's no better time to start your career in a high demand and growing sector with potential for career growth.

Why Gowrie? We're specialists in training educators. Our classes are small and held at our early learning service in Docklands. It means you'll be immersed in high quality early learning every day. Gowrie delivers this program on behalf of the Victorian Department of Education. Eligible students may also access government funding to complete their Certificate III in Early Childhood Education & Care. RTO ID 3900.
